

Proposed Solution

Our proposed Cold Outreach & Relationship Building Program is designed to break through that ceiling by combining direct cold calling campaigns, in-person activation strategies, and targeted email sequences — all working together to identify orthodontists prospects, initiate meaningful professional conversations, nurture those relationships through multiple touchpoints, and ultimately convert them into confirmed seminar attendees.

Our team will handle the heavy lifting — from researching and building monthly prospect lists of orthodontists, to executing phone-based outreach campaigns that open real conversations, coordinating in-person activations at medical conferences, hospital networking events, and local professional gatherings where your target audience already congregates, and deploying personalized email sequences that keep you top-of-mind between direct touchpoints.

We will create expert content to strengthen your reputation as an American Board Certified Oral & Maxillofacial Surgeon. We will also set up a special seminar registration page to track sign-ups, have strategy calls every two weeks, and offer monthly performance reports that connect all activities to seminar registrations.

Over the three-month engagement, this multi-channel system will reach significantly more orthodontists than door-to-door methods alone — and at a fraction of the investment required to hire a full-time business development representative. The monthly investment is a flat rate of $3,500/month ($10,500 total for three months) with no hidden fees.
